Our families deserve better.

Let's work together to make Queens safer.

"I was born and raised in Queens and am proud to be raising my own family here. As the most culturally diverse middle-class community in the nation, it's simply a great place to live. But like most of New York City, Queens is still vulnerable to dangerous crime. We have a terrific police force – the best in the nation – but they need help.

While a Member of the State Assembly, I led the fight for programs to increase cooperation between our neighborhoods and our police. In Congress, I will work to secure federal funds to further increase community policing and help our police's efforts to stop gang violence, to keep dangerous guns off our streets, and to protect our families from home invasion."
